The natural blade is a fiber obtained from rattan skin. The shades of the natural blade may vary. Its use is only for non-professional indoor settings.

The blade will turn grey in a few days when exposed to rain.

When kept indoors, its shade will evolve towards honey tones, becoming darker.

The blade is sensitive to impact and crushing. It is suitable for limited indoor use and is not permitted for professional seating.

The blades are not varnished and can be cleaned with a dry cloth. The use of detergent, soap, or abrasive sponge is prohibited.

Maison Drucker does not guarantee the blade of its products made with this material.
